

The Mighty One, God the Lord, speaks and summons the earth from the rising of the sun to its setting. Out of Zion, the perfection of beauty, God shines forth. —Ps. 50:1-2

Heart's desire is reflected in transcendent moments, which come in all shapes and sizes.

Homemade Mac-n-Cheese

True friends

Canadian geese darkening the afternoon sky

Healing from cancer

Cuddling a newborn in a flannel delivery room blanket

Worship

Peering at the earliest stars through the James Webb Space Telescope

Forgiveness

Salmon returning thousands of miles to the stream where they were "born"

Uncontrollable laughter

Stained glass windows at Sainte-Chapelle in Paris

A toddler dancing in a dragon costume

A Mozart concerto

Banff National Park

Watching the final out as your team clinches the World Series

"Home"

Having lost our original created perfection, we are left constantly searching for wholeness. Transcendent moments of wonder awaken us from our dullness. And while our taste of beauty, mystery, and belonging is pleasing, we always want more. We want the perfect, permanent fulfillment of beauty, mystery, and belonging.

The longing for "something more" is our heart's desire pointing us toward Home, to God alone who can satisfy us.

Question

In what ways do you experience a longing for completion, for "something more"?